Knots on a Counting Rope
E MAR  Bill Martin Jr.  07984  Book
32 p.  PJ  1987
On a cool, dark night, under a canopy of stars, an Indian boy sits with his grandfather, bathed in the glow of a campfire. "Tell me the story again, Grandfather," says the boy. "Tell me who I am." As the Grandfather tells the story of the boy’s birth—how a fierce storm raged that night, how th boy was very weak and almost died—he lies another knot in his counting rope. In this story of love, hope, and courage, the counting rope is a metaphor for the passage of time, and for the boy’s emerging confidence in facing his greatest challenge—his blindness.

The Owl and the Raven: An Eskimo Legend
NF11231  Digitized Video
7 min  PJ  1973 National Film Board of Canada
According to this Inuit legend the raven was not always the jet-black bird that it is today. The owl had something to do with it. What happened makes an engaging story acted out by two life-like puppets made of seal fur. The film, narrated partly in Inuktitut, partly in English, is largely the work of Inuit artists.

Pioneer Life in Canada
76467  DVD
22 min  P  2009 McIntyre Films
Long ago, Canada was already a country of immigrants. These people came from many different places like the United States, Germany, England, Scotland and Ireland. They left their homeland and became pioneers in Canada. In this 20 minute program, Michelle, a young modern-day student is transported back in time to a pioneer village. No more cell phones, MP3 players or electricity! Her new teacher tells her about their life in a pioneer settlement, how they came to Canada, where they settled, and how they work the land. Michelle tours the village and learns about the grist mill, the blacksmith shop, the general store, post office, and the school house. She also learns how the aboriginal peoples taught the pioneers to live off the land.

This Land
NF57530  Digitized Video
35 min  P  2009 National Film Board of Canada
In March 2007, seven Canadian and Inuit rangers and one female documentary filmmaker set out to cover more than 2000 km of the harshest terrain on the planet. They confront blizzards, labyrinths of crushed sea ice and near-impassable glaciers, with temperatures hovering around-50°C, to raise a flag on the northernmost tip of Canadian soil (a mere 412 km from the North Pole). With a mesmerizing soundtrack by Nunavut-born singer and narrator Tanya Tagaq and spectacular footage of the Arctic landscape, Dianne Whelan’s documentary This Land captures the epic adventure with raw immediacy.
