10:02 min P 2013 OnCore
Louis tells Randy that Mrs. Charles is working on a soapkahikewin (a painting), and she needs paint and brushes. Katie thinks soapkahikewin means painting the walls. Katie thinks Mr. Thompson might have some left-over paint and brushes he can give to Mrs. Charles. Mrs. Charles tells Randy that she is working on a painting, and not painting the walls. Lesson: Art is something that we can all enjoy.

“Do dinosaurs eat people?” Harrison sets out to explore why it is that some animals evolve to be big, while others evolve to be small. He is visited by a miniature horse and its foal who help him find out why animals are bred to be different sizes. Viewers are encouraged to test their own ability to make themselves seem as big as possible.
Challengers take part in a competitive experiment to find out whether it’s an advantage for a predator to eat big or small prey (or to be big or small prey).

As Long As The Rivers Flow - Novel
Larry Loyie 76252 Book
40 p. P 2002
As Long As The Rivers Flow. The author, Larry Loyie, is a Cree who grew up in northern Alberta in the 1940s, just before the destruction of native society through the assimilationist agend as of the residential schools. This book is his autobiography presented as a 3rd person story about Lawrence, a 10- year-old native boy. The story establishes some common ground with children everywhere. There is a pesky little sister, a peer group of cousins to best when picking berries or comparing pets, and the universal longing to grow up quickly and do adult things. But for the most part, this story is an earnest, serious effort to preserve in memory a very different time and place, to recover the values of a way of life and pass them on, because that life has been largely destroyed.

As a citizen of a community, we all have rights and responsibilities. In this program, students will join our hosts Kirstie and Sean to learn how and why communities make and enforce laws. The program reveals how rules are linked to safety and designed to support fairness, and explains why there must be consequences for breaking community rules. Students will also discover how rules in a classroom and at home are just as important as the rules in a town or city. Students also hear from the delightful coast Tsimshian First Nations Elder and Educator, Shannon Thunderbird who tells children of the Seven Sacred Teachings - love, respect, courage, honesty, wisdom, humility and truth. Shannon shares her wonderful storytelling ability in sharing with children how each of these rules from our First Nations culture can help us be better people.

Important People in My Community opens with a pictorial review of some typical Canadian communities. From here, our two young hosts take your students on a field trip to visit various people they would find working in a community. We visit with a farmer, a dentist, a fireman, police officer, doctor, Canada Post worker, and a garbage collector. Each person describes their job and tells why it is vital to the community.* * Students are also given health and safety tips from the various professionals. They discuss important safety tips such as when to call 911, don't play with matches, and staying away from open flames. Our dental hygienist gives a brief overview of correct brushing and flossing techniques.* * Our two hosts also learn the importance of taking an interest in your own community. *They discuss being "responsible" and helping out when you can whether you do it by yourself or with a group of friends.

Kindergarten is an exciting new journey for little ones. It's a huge milestone for both children and their parents/caregivers. Now children can actually see what kindergarten is like before they get there. In this delightful new video, we introduce young children to the classroom routine, their new teacher, school rules and activities. We emphasize enjoying their new school day and give simple suggestions to both the student and parents/caregivers "to help prepare them for the 'big day'." Simple things like preparing a healthy lunch and snack, getting a good night's sleep, teaching your children to be cooperative, to talk and play with others, and to follow directions will all make the kindergarten experience a wonderful one. Additional information on school bus safety, lining up, raising your hand, and schoolyard etiquette is provided. Filmed in an actual classroom, this program will build enthusiasm and confidence in young one's starting school. It is a critical piece in the transition process.

Okanagan Dreams

NFS0600 Digitized Video
47 min P 2001 National Film Board of Canada

Each summer, the thrill of adventure and the great outdoors lure thousands of young Quebeckers to British Columbia. Since the 1960s, they've been coming to harvest fruit in the lush countryside of the Okanagan Valley. The camera follows several spirited youth into the orchards for seven weeks. As the rain sets in, reality unfolds: it's cold, the cherry crop is late, and money is short. But as they make friends and enjoy their independence, the promise of adventure is realized. Surprising new views of Canada emerge as different cultures come together for a season. Featuring interviews with the fruit pickers, orchard owners and local residents, Okanagan Dreams is a warm and humorous reflection of a summer in the valley. Although their work is integral to the local economy, the youth find that the experience is not just about making money. It's about awareness, self-discovery and exploring the world.

Pas de pays sans paysans

NF51511 Digitized Video
90 min PJS 2005 Office national du film du Canad.

L'agriculture est en crise partout sur la planète. La course à la productivité de l’agro-industrie s’effectue au détriment de l’environnement et de la qualité des aliments. Sous la pression de la mondialisation, les revenus des agriculteurs diminuent, et les fermes familiales disparaissent sans cesse. Pas de pays sans paysans, de la documentariste Ève Lamont, adopte le point de vue de cultivateurs et d’éleveurs du Québec, de l’Ouest canadien, du Vermont (États-Unis) et de la France pour dénoncer les dégâts que cause l’agriculture industrielle. Pensons ici à la pollution et à la destruction des écosystèmes, sans compter la prolifération de cultures d’OGM, qui fait peser une menace additionnelle sur la biodiversité et l’autonomie des paysans. Pas de pays sans paysans témoigne à la fois d’une impalpable lucidité et d’un irrésistible espoir. Un mouvement ralliant agriculteurs et consommateurs proclame qu’il est possible et crucial de cultiver autrement. En Europe comme en Amérique, des paysans proposent une autre vision de l’agriculture et mettent en œuvre des pratiques soucieuses de l’environnement et de la pérennité de l’agriculture.

Toca Life: Town

People and Environments - The Local Community

The Durham District School Board strives to increase the capacity of the education system to respond to the learning and cultural needs of both Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal students by providing them with authentic opportunities designed to increase student knowledge, awareness and perspectives of Aboriginal peoples. The building of a traditional tipi brings authenticity to what students learn through their curriculum about First Nations, Metis and Inuit cultures, histories and perspectives. The tipi was constructed on the grounds of the Durham Forest Outdoor Environmental Education Centre which plays host to classes of students from Durham Region. It is intended as a year-round structure to be used as an outdoor classroom. This special addition to the centre is a result of cooperation between the OEE, the Aboriginal Education, and the Maintenance Departments of the Durham District School Board. The entire process was mentored by and given authentic voice by Andre Bosse, a local Metis Elder.

Toca Life: Town

Maps, even simple ones, give children the opportunity to navigate in their world with confidence. Maps give them a visual reference that can be checked over and over again. Map reading is an important skill for children to learn. It fosters spatial awareness, encourages math problem-solving skills, develops creative thinking and reasoning skills, and builds visual literacy. In this video, students learn the fundamentals of developing their mapping skills.

Join our three hosts, Matthew, Laura and Evangeline on a hike through their local conservation area. Young students will enjoy watching as big brother, Matthew gets his crew lost. With the help of their map and Evangeline’s animated computer tablet, the three find their way back to the parking lot - not before some zany antics from Matthew.

Back at home, with the help of a model helicopter drone, the three discuss their adventure and learn more about reading maps. Students are introduced to terms such as bird’s eye view, cardinal directions, compass, directional/positional words such as above/below; near/far; left/right; up/down, map, and scale.
